

Adams Eggs

In 2010, Adam at 10 years old owned 4 hens on a small family farm in Carrignavar. Adam came up with the idea of selling his hens free range eggs. He told his mother about his innovative idea at only 10 years of age. Since this idea, Adam and his mother have been selling 'Adams Eggs' successfully across Co. Cork.

Allfresh are proud suppliers of Adams free range eggs. His innovative idea is admirable, and he has been extremely successful since he came up with the new business opportunity. Adam has been selling his eggs for over 10 years now. He is now a college student but continues to sell his eggs with the help of his mother on their small farm.
